Dear Maria Rosa,

I would have written before but I didn't know your address. In the last week though I've found an address for you in an Italian Feminist Magazine titled Sottosopra.

I've read your pamphlet Women and the Subversion of the Community and liked it very much. A friend ~~and~~ (Lisa Leghorn) and I wrote a booklet on Housework and wanted to use an excerpt from your article. As we didn't have your address we decided to ask Selma James for permission (she said she could give it because she shared the copyright) as we had her address. She suggested some changes in what we wanted to use from your article and we complied. We hope that you will find the excerpts we used alright too.

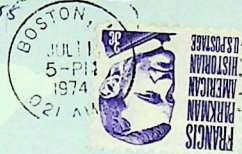

One of our booklets are on their way to you by surface mail. It should take about a month to reach you. We only hope you'll like it.

We sent a pamphlet to Silvia Federici a New York Feminist. She is going to Italy soon and asked if she could take some of the Housework-er's Handbooks along, so maybe you'll get a chance to see it before it reaches you by mail.

Best Wishes in your work!

Sincerely,
Betsy Warrior
